NEWS RELEASE

INFORMATICS' SCHOOLS QUALIFY FOR CASETRUST

Singapore 27 July 2005 – Informatics Computer School, Thames Business School and Thames Language School, wholly owned subsidiaries of the Informatics Group have qualified for CaseTrust in Education.

By achieving CaseTrust for Education, Informatics is certified as a company that have the foundation for good quality student welfare practices and standards. The certification also means that Informatics have clear fees policy, well defined student redress practices and system, disclosed commitment to quality and well trained personnel.

Informatics' CEO Dr Michael Teng says, " We are very pleased to be qualified for CaseTrust as it shows that we are resolute to continually strive for service and operational excellence. We will not be resting on our laurels but will instead, be pushing for excellence in all areas of our business."

CaseTrust for Education is a scheme customised specifically by the Consumer Association of Singapore for the education industry. It enhances the confidence of international students and their parents in the quality of education in Singapore and also that Private Education Organisations (PEOs) have put in place proper systems and practices to look after the welfare and interests of international students in Singapore. This scheme also encourages international students to view Singapore as an attractive study location.
